The case should be settled. Microsoft wants to settle the case and now the States are holding up the process with more demands. The States that are holding out are of course the States that have Competitors to Microsoft.

Hopefully this is not a case of Competitors basically trying to get what they want from Microsoft by USING the Government. I believe that what the government has put forth. It is not up to the government to try and make a competitive arena. Punish the Microsoft for its behavior, not make its competitors get a free ride or even to playing field for them.
